

There are some people who profoundly influence reality in an inexplicable way.
You are surrounded by them, even though they come out of nowhere.
You probably work with them.
You pass them on the street everyday.
Sometimes it is just a moment.
This moment is meaningful.
It has an impact on your perception and thereby your internal world starts to change.
For those inspiring people who are in my memory.
For those who I know personally and for those who will come, for sure.
The uncommon people.
